PRESS RELEASE

September 24, 2009: ComDef West returns to San Diego on Monday, 1 February, and on the morning of Tuesday 2 February with the theme “Advancing Force Multiplicity”. ComDef West will immediately precede the West 2010 event at the Convention Center. Lieutenant General John Dubia, U.S. Army (Retired), Executive Vice President, AFCEA stated that he was delighted that ComDef West, focusing on international cooperation, would be co-located with West.

David Whiteree, Chairman, ComDef, said that he was particularly pleased that delegates traveling internationally would be able to attend the two most important West Coast defense events in the same time frame.

John Dubia underlined, “The 370 exhibitors and 10,000 attendees of West will have the opportunity to interact with the delegates from the ComDef conference who will be joining AFCEA and the U.S. Naval Institute for lunch on the second day.”

The theme for ComDef West will be “Advancing Force Multiplicity.” The Co-moderators for the conference will be Bruce Bade, Director Pacific Armaments Cooperation, OUSD, and AVM Kim Osley, Head of the Australian Defence Staff, Embassy of Australia, Washington, DC.

The program for both events will be available on both their respective websites within the next two weeks.
